

Post Doc Opportunity at Texas A&M University

Greetings. We are excited to share a unique employment opportunity at Texas A&M University. If you know of a recent or soon-to-be doctoral graduate (doctoral degree earned between January 1, 2018, and July 1, 2022) who might be interested in a two-year fellowship (some ACES Fellows may be hired as tenure-track faculty after the fellowship) for early-career PhDs with strength in, and evidence of, respect for diversity and inclusion, please share this information with them. Please note that this opportunity is available to all PhDs granted in the U.S. or institutions abroad and is not limited to U.S. residents.

Texas A&M University's College of Agriculture & Life Sciences invites applications for the Accountability, Climate, Equity, and Scholarship (ACES) Fellows Program from scholars whose work aligns with the following department(s): Department of Agricultural Leadership, Education, and Communications; Department of Nutrition; and Department of Rangeland, Wildlife and Fisheries Management. In recognition of Texas A&M University's Diversity Plan, the ACES faculty pipeline initiative promotes the research, teaching, and scholarship of early-career scholars who embrace the belief that diversity is an indispensable component of academic excellence. ACES Fellows will benefit from prescriptive mentoring, access to instructional best practices, a vast array of world-class research and productivity resources, and a robust network of renowned Texas A&M scholars from across disciplines. Fellows will begin their appointment in Fall 2022.

In partnership with the College of Agriculture & Life Sciences, the ACES Fellows Program is funded by the Office of the Provost and administered by the Office for Diversity at Texas A&M University. For more information about the program and its application requirements, visit the ACES program description provided by the Office for Diversity. The application must be submitted online and is available at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/91709>. Applications are due by 11:59 pm Eastern on November 1, 2021.

For any questions related to eligibility or technical issues with the application, please email aces@tamu.edu. For questions about the College of Agricultural & Life Sciences, please email Dr. Craig Coates (craig.coates@ag.tamu.edu). For questions about the Department of Agricultural Leadership, Education, and Extension, please email Dr. Matt Baker (Mathew.Baker@ag.tamu.edu) or Dr. Lori Moore (lmoore@tamu.edu)

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Texas A&M University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/ Veterans/ Disability employer committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment. Applications from women, minorities, and members of other underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged and actively sought. The University is aware that attracting and retaining exceptional faculty often depends on meeting the needs of two careers and therefore implements policies that contribute to work-life balance.